"I'm not mercenary, but I don't believe in being a fool and I'm Aunt Alice's favorite great-niece and she's going to have scads and oodles of money to leave to somebody. And she's seventy-two, and she'll never forgive me if I'm not at the pier to see her sail. It's the little personal things that you do that count most with old ladder."

taxi waiting at 10:30 with the basket in it and you can go on with your life work of personally touching the rich great-aunt."

"She's really a dear," Merriam's tones were plaintive. "She's had a very unhappy life. You see she was once engaged to a young chemist, was ever so proud of him and thought he was going to be a great scientist, but instead the stupid thing went into the disinfectant manufacturing business. It was a cruel blow to her pride. She didn't marry him and has been an awful crab and gone around hating him

"I get you," John grinned. "The personal touch! Well, you'll have to let me do part of the touching, you aren't fit to stir out."

"I have to," Merriam insisted. "I have to take the basket I bought yesterday and trail around to the fruit man's and the grocer's both. I can't

Where two executors or trustees are appointed, there often arises a serious difference of opinion as to the management of the estate, followed by resignation or a lawsuit, while in other cases one of them may have to respond in heavy damages on a joint bond for the unauthorized or fraudulent acts of the other. All of which is of positive injury to the estate.

In this Company any differences of opinion as to the proper course to pursue can be referred at once to the Trust Committee or the Board of Directors, thus securing the advice of men of large business experience. This secures the best possible protection for beneficiaries under

Lions Rout Employes And Take Possession Of Railway Station

NAIROBI, British East Africa, October 17.—Officials of a train arriving at one of the stations on the Uganda railway found three lions had taken possession, one in the telegraph room and one in the refreshment room, while the other came out and stalked up and down the platform, "in true official style," as the driver expressed it.

A few shricks from the engine whistle caused the lions to decamp, whereupon the station staff emerged from a building some distance away.

Well, she perfectly hates candy, but she likes those fat jars of candied ginger. She doesn't like yellow bananas, but she does the red ones. She hates oranges, but just laps up tangerines. Likes malaga grapes and can't endure tokays. But the thing that's most important, because she thinks they keep her from being seasick, are those cunning little yellow limes. Get all you can of them, at least two dozen, and put them right on top—she begins sucking them before the gangplank's in and never stops till she lands. It's really a spiffty basket, be sure it's arranged nicely—" elderly woman pulled the tissue away in pleased curiosity.

And the next minute the personal touch jabbed aunty!

For on top of the spiffy basket in orderly rows where the stupid grocer had arranged them, in accordance with his interpretation of John's telephoned orders lay two dozen. telephoned orders, lay two dozen blatantly lettered cans of the ex-flance's "Best Chloride of Lime."

lier than usual. Instead of stopping at his blind he walked straight to Blacky the Crow didn't know what to think. He couldn't make himself believe that Farmer Brown's boy had first made. Of course, there was no one there. The hunter looked both really turned hunter, yet what else could he believe? Hadn't he with his own blind and sat down, and while he watched for the coming of own eyes seen Farmer Brown's boy with a terrible gun hide in the rushes along the Big River and wait for Dusky the Black Duck and his flock to come in? And hadn't he with his own ears heard the "Bang, bang!"

of that very gun?

The Ducks he also watched that other blind to see if the unknown hunter of the night before would appear. Of course, he didn't, and when at last the hunter saw the Ducks coming he was sure that this time he would get some of them.

But the same thing happened that had happened the night before. Just

The very first thing the next mornal that happened the night before. Just as those Ducks were almost near enough a gun went "Bang, bang!" and away went the Ducks. They didn't come back again, and once more a disappointed hunter went more a disappointed hunter went home without any.

The next afternoon he was on hand very early. He was there before Farmer Brown's boy arroved, and when he did come, of course, the hunter saw him. He walked down to where Farmer Brown's boy was hid den in the rushes. "Hello!" said he. "Are you the one who was shooting here less night and the night be-'Are you the one who was shooting here last night and the night be-fore?"

Farmer Brown's boy grinned. "Yes," said he.
"What luck did you have?" asked "What luck did you have?" asked the hunter.
"Fine," replied Farmer Brown's boy.
"How many Ducks did you get?" asked the hunter.
Farmer Brown's boy grinned more broadly than before. "None," said he.
"I guess I'm not a very good shot."
"Then what did you mean by saying you had fine luck?" demanded the hunter.
"Oh," replied Farmer Brown's boy.
"I had the luck to see those Ducks and the fun of shooting," and he grinned again.

ing Blacky hastened over to the place where Farmer Brown's boy had hidden in the rushes. With sharp eyes he looked for feathers that would tell the tale of a Duck killed. But there were no feathers. There wasn't a thing to show that anything dreadful had happened there. Perhaps Farmer Brown's boy had missed when he shot at those Ducks. Blacky shook his head and decided to say nothing to anybody about Farmer Brown's boy and that terrible gun.

You may be sure that that afternoon he was early in the top of his favorite tree over by the Big River. His heart sank, just as on the afternoon before, he saw Farmer Brown's hoy was about.

In the funck to sho thing; and the grinned again. The hunter lost patience. He tried to order Farmer Brown's boy away. But the latter said he had as much right there as the hunter had and the hunter knew that this was so. Finally, he gave up and, muttering angrily, went back to his blind. Again the grinned again.

DISTRICT CLERGY CHURCH TO HOLD IN ESCORT PARTY MORTGAGE BURNING

Preparations for Installation of Catholic Archbishop in Baltimore Wednesday.

Archbishop Michael J. Curley, head of the archdiocese of Baltimore, will pass through Washington Tuesday, en route to Baltimore, accompanied by a committee of priests appointed by Bishop Owen B. Corrigan, to escort by Bishop Owen B. Corrigan, to escort him from St. Augustine, Fla.

The committee, consisting of Mgr. Michael F. Foley, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic Church, and Rev. Louis R. Stickney, rector of the cathedral, Baltimore, and Mgr. C. F. Thomas, rector of St. Patrick's Church here, left Washington Thursday night to go to St. Augustine to accompany Archbishop Curley to Baltimore.
While in St. Augustine the members of the committee are to be the guests of Archbishop Curley. The party will leave St. Augustine by automobile tomorrow morning for Jacksonville. There they will be met by Abbot Charles of St. Leo College, San Antonio; Father Farrell of Tampa, Father Barry, viear general of the diocese; Father Maher of Jacksonville, Dr. Nunan of Fernandina, consultors of the diocese, and Father William Barry, rector of the Lackawanna parish. They will leave for Richmond at 1:15 p.m. tomorrow.

Guests of Bishop in Richmond.

Guests of Bishop in Richmond. Arriving in Richmond Monday, they will be the guests of Bishop O'Connell, who will accompany, them to Washington Tuesday. The party will arrive in Baltimore at Mount Royal station at 2 p.m. Many Catholics from Washington will gather, with congregations from all of the Catholic churches of Baltimore, to welcome him in that city. It is expected, also, many Catholics of Washington will be at the Union station here when the party arrives.

"Still Parado" Is Planned.

"Still Parade" Is Planned.

There will be a "still parade" from the station in Baltimore to the archiepiscopal residence. Archishop Curley will be installed as the head of the archdiocese of Baltimore at 10 a.m. Wednesday, when a pontifical mass will be celebrated in the cathedral. Bishop Corrigan will pontificate, with Very Rev. E. J. Wunder of Cumberland, Md., assistant priest; Rev. J. J. Murray of St. Elizabeth's, deacon, and Rev. Cornelius J. Dacey of Bradshaw, subdeacon.

Preceding the ceremony a procession will be held through the streets near the cathedral. After the mass Bishop Corrigan will welcome the new archbishop on behalf of the clergy and State Senator Robert Biggs will make the welcoming address for the laity. "Still Parade" Is Planned.

FINAL PROGRAM TONIGHT.

Mardi Gras Celebration Staged Last Night at Elks' Karnival. A mardi gras celebration was staged especially for visitors to the Elks' Kar-nival at the Elks' clubhouse last night, when honor guests were members of the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Trade, the Merchants and Manufac turers' Association, the Automotive Trade Association, war veterans and several patriotic associations. Tonight will be the final night of the karnival, when fraternal and labor ganizations will be guests.

"Don't worry," John had jabbed notes on the corner of his newspaper, "just get some sleep and trust me, darling."

Still wabbly from pain, but much better, Merriam sank back in the taxi three hours later and eyed the steamer basket proudly. It was wrapped beautifully, crammed full to the handles—John seemed to have obeyed instructions to the letter. She reached the pier in ample time. Aunt Alice gave a grudging smile when she saw the huge basket.

"Hope you remembered I hate oranges—"
"I remembered everything you oranges—"

"I remembered everything you liked, Aunty dear," cooed Merriam.
"John did it, he's the dearest. He was so sorry he hadn't time to come to the pier, but he sent his love and hoped you'd enjoy everything."
The outer wrapping came off; the elderly woman pulled the tissue away is replaced curiosity.

Woman's Meeting Ends in Row

CHICAGO, November 26.—Chiffon and lace hosiery, silk dresses and high-heeled shoes were officially placed under the ban by the Federation of University Women at the University of Chicago, but the meeting broke up in disorder when one girl submitted a rule that skirts should reach to within eight inches of the ground. ground.

A costume of pleated or plain wool skirt and woolen or Jersey jacket, white waist or blouse, with low-heeled shoes, was made the regulation dress which all university women will be urged to wear. Skirts will be about fifteen inches from the ground.

Urges Defensive Measures Against

By the Associated Press.

LONDON. November 24.—Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, tonight sent a message to the government at Belfast urging defensive measures against "the dastardly outrages" upon the loyalists, "no matter how severe the provocation."

"I have learned with the greatest of horror," said the message, "of the dastardly outrages upon loyalists in the city of Belfast. I am taking drastic action at once.

"I appeal to all those who trust in me to remain strictly on the defensive, no matter how severe the provocation, and when I return Saturday morning I promise to take personal charge of the situation. I hope an actual crisis may be avoided in my absence."
